To whomever it may concern,

Below is a summary of what I (Luz Pizano-QA Supervisor at Reichel Foods) was told by Maria Ochoa:

On April 17th I received a text from Maria Ochoa stating that she needed to speak to me, I was out of the office and unable to speak with her, I sat down with her on April 20th, in the QA Office to see what was worrying her so much.

She informed me that her and her boyfriend (also employed at Reichel Foods) Tony Wilson, had broken up, the reason for her calling me was because she had gotten into an argument with Tony in the slicing room, about his smock touching the rim of the garbage can, so she asked him to grab a new one, he argued that it didn't and she walked away and notified Ahmed (lead) and Ahmed asked him to change it, Tony ignored him and the Supervisor (Sam) was watching through the window and asked Tony to please change his smock, only then did he comply.

He called her on Saturday April 18th, and said "I want to go back with you, I am sorry! I will make a lot of problems for you and your son at work if you don't!" She hung up and called her son right away and when her son came home from work he sent Tony a text to please stop harassing his mother and that he told him not to return to the home because they had changed the locks and his mom (Maria) and him wished him well. Tony only replied "ok" to the text.

I followed up with Maria Ochoa on Wednesday, April 22nd as to how things are going and she has said that Tony hasn't bothered her since.
