Pre wired telephone bays for companies such as At&t and Quest to be installed in there central offices. These bays consist of high dollar electrical equipment which had to be wired in very detail specific ways or customer would not allow to be installed. I had to make sure i was using the correct gauge wire ,measure the length of each wire , strip the wire and put the correct connector on using a crimping tool. Then had to run the wires nice and neat in uniform down to each piece of equipment using 3 different kinds of tying knots. After all wired in had q.c check and ok. Then package, label and stage to be shipped. There were also times when i had to use the wire wrap gun to wrap wires on to pegs for equipment , also did soldering and heat shrinking
