I have always been interested in the trades. I remember when I was in elementary school I made a wood planter in wood shop. I felt so proud that I had made a planter. Ever since then I was interested in carpentry. When I was in high school I made a couple of projects in wood shop one of them was a mantle clock. I still have that clock. Couple of years later after I was done with high school, I was thinking about going into the trades. I wasn't sure which trade I should go in. I decided to go into welding because one of my moms friends told me that they think I would be good in welding. So about a 2 weeks later I had signed up for welding. I can say right now I, I want to pursue welding because I love it.
