Professional ExperienceWelder and Fabricator at Super Vac

Fort Collins, Colorado, United states

March 6, 2024 - Current

- Super Vac's fabrication and welding team requires employees to make use of various welding processes. I am proficient with MIG, TIG, Oxyacetylene, and SMAW. In addition to my welding duties I have been cross trained to run various CNC machines for bending, cutting, milling, and robotic welding. I am proficient with various forms of grinding, cutting, fitting, finishing, measurements, and blue print reading, as well as having to be familiar with various jigs. As a second shift employee I am expected to get all of my work done without oversight and rely on order forms to determine my workload and execute builds within our parts lead period. I have also been selected as the sole safety committee member for my department and strive to make sure all of our work is operating within proper safety regulations.

One Love Manager

Loveland, Colorado, United States

Sept 25, 2019 – March 6, 2024

- In store I was in charge of running the POS system, helping customers, product organization, and cash drops. The later part of my time with this company was spent in the warehouse and delivering goods to the stores. At the warehouse I was in charge of store maintenance, packing orders, preparing buildings for new stores, advertisement marketing, and deliveries. From these experiences I have gained a good level of product knowledge in the head shop industry and some of the business aspects as well.

Parachute Packer with Mile High skydiving

Longmont, Colorado, United States

August 20, 2018 – 2020

- I was a private contractor for mile high skydiving as a parachute packer. This work entailed high amounts of physical labor in a highly fast paced environment with no room for error. The task of packing a parachute is very demanding and the responsibility is high. I think that this shows my ability for attention to detail when it comes to completing tasks in a timely manner.

Stagehand with IATSE

Fort Collins, Colorado, United states

July 2015 – Current

- I have worked as a stagehand with IATSE at local venues as well as the Budweiser Center and Cheyenne Civic Center. I work closely with the electrical teams, stage carpentry, and the loading crew in order to set up and take down live performances.

Midtown Arts Center

Fort Collins, Colorado, United States.

January 2016 – October 5, 2017

- Midtown Arts Center is a playhouse where I assisted with backstage work, spotlighting, in show light board operating, and set design. I am also a server at Midtown and perform a variety of customer service tasks as well as kitchen maintenance and food preparation. I am required to know the alcohol we serve as well as all of our meal options so that I can give our customers the best theater experience possible.

Education

Front Range Community College, United States.

AAS Welding Technology, December 2023

Loveland High Colorado, United States.

High School Diploma, May 2013

Additional Skills

CPR & First Aid Certified (7/24/2025)-(7/24/2027)

I am a very outgoing individual and great at working with others. I can take and follow directions well. I can also step up and fill leadership positions when needed. After working at a variety of food service places I have learned how to handle customers with courtesy and respect. I have worked as a cook at a few restaurants as well as a playhouse, so I am accustomed to working with a team in a fast pace environment. I work quickly and efficiently with all my duties, and always put 100% into all the tasks I am assigned. I always am looking for work that needs to be done and am happy to assist others with their work. I have done volunteer work with crossroads church as part of project one helping with debris removal for areas damaged by the flooding across the Front Range.
