I am seeking a company that has a job opportunity that has room for growth and challenges me day to day. Specifically a company that thrives on polishing employees to not only be successful themselves in their career growth, but want their employees to carry enthusiastic moral and pride in what they do for a living. I am confident in building, executing, and maintaining a team environment in which I build confidence, trust, and overall increase production with a company's employee workforce using the on the job and academic knowledge I have learned over the years of being in leadership roles. I seek to take my knowledge to the next stage in my career as a team leader and Manager.
