Personal Background:

I was born and raised in Suva, Fiji. After high school my family and I moved to Auckland, New Zealand so my brothers and I would have better opportunities for education; I am currently a New Zealand citizen. In 2006 we again moved, this time to Sydney, Australia to be closer to family. I have most recently moved to the United States as of December 2013 to marry my now wife who is a US citizen. I am in the process of waiting for my green card which I will receive by the end of the year and in 3 years full citizenship. I currently hold a work authorization. I am eager and excited to begin a stable career in the United States as my wife and I build our life together here.
