Work at a complex of 467 units while also regularly assisting 3 or 4 additional properties on a weekly basis. Managed to effectively turn and complete daily work orders same day with only one other tech for 3 months at my home site. I started working here through my temp company CSI that ive been working with since I moved here. I have good standings with the company and I havent been put on a site that didn't want to hire me full time. Only reason I might leave this company is due to infrastructure issues in upper management leading to me losing 17 fellow techs since I've started.
